Destruction of Piratical Junks by H. M's Gunboat " Grasshopper.' The Gunboat Grosshopper under command o Lieut. Walker has again been distinguishing her self up the East Coast, destroying piratical junks The following is a short account of the affair. On the afternoon of the 23rd September some Ulinamen gave information to H. B. M's Consul at Amoy to the effect that a Brig had been attacked by a squadron consisting of five piratical junks, near to a place called Kankow, not far from Swatow, and that having murdered all hands the pirates had taken possession of the cargo and sunk the ship. The informants were unable to state On this information the Consul communicated either the name or nation of the brig. THOMAS SUTHERLAND, Esq. (Superintendent with the commander of the Grasshopper, then in port, who proceeded to sea immediately taking a Mundarin and an Interpreter, and arrived off Kankow the same night, but none of the pirates were visible. The next day was spent in oruising about in an unsuccessful search for the junks. ROBERT BRAND, Esq.
